

When We Are Eating

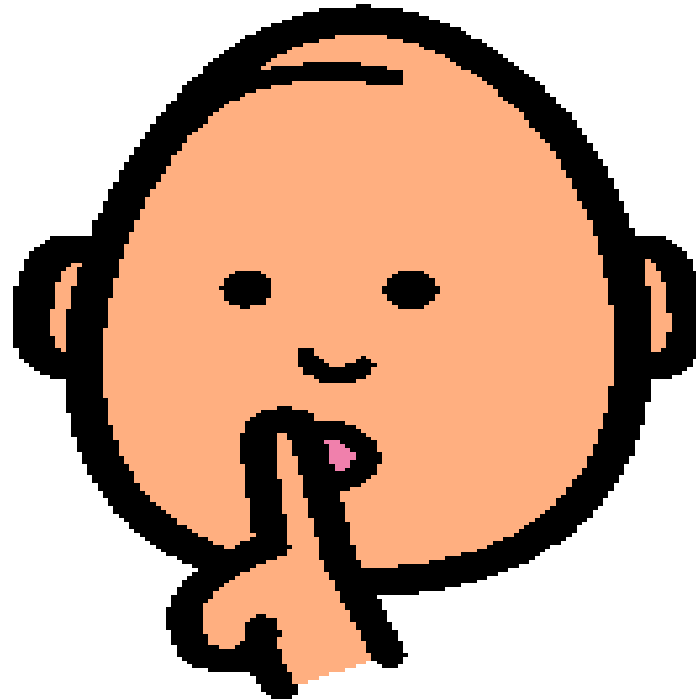

Before we eat we wash our hands with soap and water.

When we sit at the table our eyes are watching, our ears are listening, and our hands are to ourselves.

We use our inside voices and say
please and thank you.

We stay in our seat and keep our chair flat on the floor

When we eat with our friends we stay in our own space.

We take small bites and chew our food. We chew food then talk.

We ask for food to be passed.

We clean up after ourselves.

When we are all done we wash our hands with soap and water.

The End